

I support this petition. I'm a 20wpm Extra class licensee, who had difficulty attaining the 20wpm level. But I worked at it for over a year. It only takes desire to do this. The requirements for an amateur radio license are becoming too easy. Lowering the requirements will not attract operators who want to participate. I am surprised and a little sadden by comments on this petition from those who say they can't learn Morse. It is so easy to teach someone they can't do something and make them believe it. People should be proud of their accomplishments. Please make the changes suggested by this petition. It will be good for amateur radio.

Kippi Speroni, K1PPI